

Tady Blany,

A NEW SONG.

Sung by Mr. Bannister in the Entertainment of the Touch Stone.

MY name's Tady Blany, I'll be bound
Neither man nor boy upon this ground
Full twenty years I've beat my round,
Crying, Vauxhall Watch !

My time it being a little short.
To be sure I have not had some sport,
With the genteels that this place resort,
Crying, &c.

Then of pretty damsels neat and tight,
Maccaronies, what a fight !
Of a star-light morn I've bid good night,
Crying, &c.

The spark replies, No one will see;
You are deceiv'd, my soul, said she,
There's that Irish thief, (meaning me)
Crying, &c.

Then I gets a thirteen not to talk,
And I gently steals t'wards the dark walk,
I then decamp no sport to baulk,
Crying Vauxhall Watch.
